

RIVERSIDE SURGERY

Patient Participation Group (PPG) Background information

For some years Riverside Surgery in Horsham has had a Patient Reference Group (PRG) which has functioned for the most part as a virtual on-line group.

Since 2013, however, when Clinical Commissioning Groups (CCGs) were introduced, the Department of Health/NHS has encouraged a much greater emphasis on patient engagement and participation in determining how clinical services are best delivered at both at primary and secondary levels. The focus of patients' engagement has therefore been broadened to encompass not just views on their own GP practice but also on health provision as a whole.

A major component of the impetus to achieve enhanced patient engagement and participation has been the creation by CCGs of their own Clinical Patient Reference Groups (CPRGs). Horsham and Mid Sussex CCG, of which Riverside Surgery is a member, have its own CPRG comprised of patient representatives of the practices within the CCG area. This meets monthly to be updated on the latest developments and provide a patient view on developing service provision.

To ensure that the CPRG can best fulfil its function, it is important that its practice representatives have an effective mechanism for liaising with the patients from their own surgery. This entails a greater degree of engagement than has been the case in the past and means that Patient Reference Groups which have historically existed primarily on a virtual, practice-focused basis cannot easily meet the new engagement requirements.

Against this background Riverside Surgery has established a Patient Participation Group (PPG) which will have an enhanced level of engagement with its patients and which will not only continue to work with the practice to review its own services, but which will also be able to offer views on health service provision within the locality generally.

Our Aims moving forward are to:-

- Provide the patient's perspective - give them a voice to make constructive suggestions to the Practice Management team of ways to enhance the operation of the surgery for the benefit of the patients.
- Promote Health matters - encourage and develop a self-care mentality.
- Improve internal and external communications.
- Enhance the patient experience and influence the development of services in the medium-long term based on patient feedback.

We would like to assure you that membership of the PPG will not be time-consuming, so if you are interested in joining our PPG simply complete the application form attached and email it to: HSCCG.prgriverside@nhs.net or return it to the surgery reception.
